

FILE TWO SUITS TOTALING $100,000 IN COUNTY COURT

Actions in Trespass Are Outgrowth of Fatal Accident

THREE WERE KILLED

Charles Hartzell, Eddington, Named Defendant In Action

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 30 — Two actions in trespass, aggregating a claim of $100,000, have been filed in the Court of Common Pleas, here. The suits grow out of a two car collision in which three Phila. suburban youths were killed on the Lackawanna Trail, in Doylestown Township.

Claiming $50,000, Philip M. Lind, Drexel Hill, administrator of the estate of George R. Lind also known as George R. Brick, has named Deputy Clerk of Quarter Sessions Walter C. Schroeder, administrator of the estate of Frederick J. Nagle, defendants in an action in trespass.

Lind died October 11, 1947, and was a passenger in a car which was being driven by the defendant, Nagle, who died Sept. 28.

The dead plaintiff is the stepson of George R. Lind, 379 Lakeview ave., Drexel Hill. A mother, Margery Grace Lind, is also interested in the claim.

A second suit growing out of the same accident in which John Mitchell, 231 Kelly street, Luzerne, was driving the car which was struck by the car in which the three youths were riding, has been filed by Harry J. Schneider, administrator of the estate of Louis Schneider, who hopes to recover $50,000 from Walter C. Schroeder, administrator of the estate of Fred J. Nagle.

Schneider was also a passenger with George R. Lind in a car being driven by Fred J. Nagle who has been named the defendant in both suits.

Deputy Quarter Sessions Clerk Walter Schroeder, of Furlong, has nothing to do with the two suits other than for a technical purpose since an estate simply cannot be sued.

Charles Hartzell, Marion ave., and Brown road, Eddington, has been named the defendant in an action in assumpsit by Stanley P. Cridland who claims the sum of $576.31 with interest from Dec. 28, 1946. The suit grows out of a financial transaction which originally involved $817.82.

Mary J. Haines Dies; Former Matron at Home

A prominent Bristol resident, Miss Mary Johnson Haines, who for over 35 years had served as matron at the Keene home, Radcliffe street, died yesterday afternoon at the Keene home. She had been ill but a short time.

Miss Haines had retired from that post a few years ago, but had continued to reside at the home.

Daughter of the late Elizabeth and Thornton G. Haines, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Anna H. Boig, of Kansas; and two brothers, Frank, of Connecticut, and Charles, of California.

The deceased was a member of the Society of Friends; the Travel Club and the Garden Club connected with the Travel Club.

The Rev. George E. Boswell, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, will officiate at the service at the Keene home, 710 Radcliffe street, Thursday at 11 a. m. Interment will be made at West Chester. Arrangements are in charge of John C. Black, funeral director.

FIRST WINTER SNOWS HIT NEW YORK

AS NEW YORK CITY and its suburbs were treated to the first taste of winter snows, Margaret Detrano scrapes enough flakes from a car windshield to make herself a snowball. Rain soon washed the snow away. Upstate areas have already been visited by the snowman. (International)

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

A large number of cases of chicken pox has been reported among first grade pupils at Newtown public schools.

The New Hope Sportsmen's Club, Inc., has taken title to Eagle Island on the New Jersey side of the Delaware river. The tract has been donated to the organization by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kesler, of Huntingdon, L. I., and contains about 19 acres of ground. It is claimed to be the best duck shooting island in the river, and adjoins what is known as Island Farm.

The club members have been informed that 200 bream, furnished by the State Fish Commission, have been placed in Pickock Creek.

The next A.K.C. sanctioned trial is arranged for December 12th at the farm of C. A. Magill, near New Hope. The annual meeting of the beagle club will take place at headquarters Tyro Hall Grange, Buckingham, on the evening of December 7th.

The shooting club sponsored a challenge cup shoot on the shooting grounds on Route 202, west of New Hope, yesterday.

Recently 13 men have joined the club.

"Army Community Relations" is the subject upon which Major Chesley M. Adams, chief of the consultant service, at Valley Forge General Hospital spoke at the meeting.

BASKET FOR NEEDY

ANDALUSIA, Nov. 30 — Andalusia Brownie Troop, No. 1, under leadership of Mrs. Lawrence Robinson, observed Thanksgiving by filling a basket for a needy family in Bensalem township. The girls brought canned goods, and money was provided for chickens, meat, etc. The girls trimmed the basket in the Brownie colors, blue and gold.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

German Communists took their first definite step yesterday toward establishing a separate city government in the Soviet sector of Berlin by calling the Assembly and the "democratic bloc" to meet today. The Soviet commander endorsed the move, interpreted as an attempt to act before next Sunday's elections in the Western sectors.

Moscow was reported to have accepted a proposal by Chairman Bramuglia of the United Nations Security Council to set up a commission of experts from the six member nations not involved to study the procedural problems in the dispute over the Berlin blockade and the introduction of the Soviet mark. Washington, London and Paris are expected to agree. In Washington, Senator Connally predicted an early lifting of the Russian blockade and introduction of the Soviet mark as the city's sole currency.

Israel formally applied for membership in the United Nations. The United States will support the application; Britain will seek a delay, but probably will not use her veto. Peace came to Jerusalem when Is-

Former Resident Here Is Made Eagle Scout

Philip Drumm, 16, Ramsey, N. J., high school senior, was one of four elevated to Eagle Scout rating by the North Bergen County Council Board of Review of Higher Awards held at Hackensack last Wednesday evening.

Philip is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Drumm, Stuart Lane, and is a member of Troop 31, sponsored by the George Hemion Post, American Legion.

The Drumm family formerly resided in Bristol.

NOT GOING TO RE-ASSESS COUNTY REAL ESTATE

The State Equalization Tax Board Only Certifies To Market Value

WINNER IS SPEAKER

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 30 — "The State Equalization Tax Board is not going to reassess real estate in Bucks County," Edwin Winner, of Harboro, asserted at a meeting of the Bucks County School Directors' Association held at the high school auditorium.

Mr. Winner was a former Montgomery county legislator and county treasurer, and is now a member of the State Equalization Board.

"There has been a widespread misconception of the work of the State Equalization Tax Board," he said. "We are not concerned with the unequal assessments within a school district, all we do is to certify as to the market value of the real estate of a school district." Counties such as Montgomery and Bucks, he maintained are likely to receive less school aid in 1950-51 as a result of the very probable high market value of our real estate as compared to our assessments. The state is primarily concerned with a more equitable distribution of state aid to school districts and as a result, the State Equalization Tax Commission was established. Mr. Winner said that the real estate tax records of the Bucks County Commissioners office ranked among the best in Pennsylvania.

Walter S. Miller, president of the County Board, remarked that the basic difficulty still remains and that it will always be with us as long as we depend upon such an obsolete tax base as real estate for school support.

There is no reason why today, he said, we should tax real estate for school purposes.

The Sellersville-Perkasie High School band under the direction of Paul M. Oberholzer, rendered an excellent concert at the opening session of the Convention.

Walter Young of the Buckingham Board gave the invocation.

County Superintendent, Charles H. Boehm, gave a Kodachrome trip through Bucks County, presenting fifty of the best views of the county from the County Kodachrome Library. He was assisted by Raymond W. Lloyd, Bucks County Agricultural Adviser.

Paul I. Gruber, assistant county superintendent, presented several movie reels from the Bucks County Film Library.

Frank Trembley, Jr., of Doylestown Township was elected to succeed Walter M. Carwithen on the County Board. Walter Carwithen had been a member since the inception of the County Board in 1937 and a treasurer of the Bucks County Directors' Association for 25 years.

Grace H. Naylor, of Wrightstown, was re-elected to serve another 6 year term. Myrl Worthington, of Buckingham was elected as auditor.

FUNERAL ON THURSDAY

ANDALUSIA, Nov. 30 — The Rev. Herbert Leswing Jr., rector of the Church of the Redeemer (Episcopal), will officiate at the service for Mrs. J. Lawrence Ralph, Thursday at two p. m., at the funeral home of R. L. Horner, Langhorne. Mrs. Ralph died here on Sunday. Interment will be in Friends burial ground, Langhorne, and friends may call Wednesday evening.

Three Slightly Hurt In Two-Car Crash Near Here

Three persons were slightly hurt late Saturday night when two cars crashed at the intersection of State Road and the approach to the Burlington-Bristol bridge. The accident occurred at about 11:30.

One car was operated by Joseph Husvar, 249 Wood street, Bristol, and the other one by Howard F. Reed, Burlington, N. J. Both cars were considerably damaged.

Husvar sustained contusions of the nose, knee and elbow. His wife, Lucy, was injured about the chest, possible fracture of the ribs and left thigh.

Reed's nose was injured and he suffered shock.

All three were treated at the office of a Bristol physician.

Joseph Seader, chief, Bristol township police, investigated.

USEFUL PRIZES

Prizes to be awarded at the card party this evening at Bristol high school cafeteria, sponsored by the Mother's Association are: large mirror, glass snack dish, sofa pillow, nest of three waste baskets, crocheted carry-all, groceries, and other useful items.

"LIFE" AND THE T-H LAW

Man is supposed to be a "thinking animal." Intelligent people usually try not to express opinions on matters they know nothing about. Doctors diagnose before they prescribe. Radio mechanics, before they tinker with a strange set, study the diagram to see how it is supposed to function.

These principles do not apply to the discussions now going on about whether Congress shall repeal or modify the Taft-Hartley Labor Law. This is one field where apparently anyone can testify as an expert, without caring whether he knows what he is talking about or not.

It is astounding that "Life", nationally known pictorial magazine, should presume to tell its millions of readers that "there are good reasons for changing" the Taft-Hartley Act—and then, in trying to give those reasons, expose the fact that its editorial writers haven't bothered to find out what is (and isn't) in the law.

Yet that is the case. You will find the editorial in question on page 36 of the current issue of Life (dated Nov. 29, 1948).

This editorial is a strange commentary on the demoralized thinking of the present generation. Life's editors sit in judgment on the law, without understanding either its general principles or its details.

For example, referring to the broad purposes of the labor law and its public health and injunction provisions, Life asks this question:

"Is it unhealthier for a nation to have its miners distressed or to have its cities go through a spell of shivering?"

This is a "loaded" or question-begging query. A national

25 ARE EXAMINED IN PHILA. YESTERDAY

23 Sent By Bristol Selective Service Board; Two Transferrees

FOR DECEMBER QUOTA

The 25 young men who left here yesterday morning for physical examinations which may lead to Selective Service training, included one transferred from Philadelphia board, and one transferred from Atlantic City, N. J.

The list from Bristol area included 25 names, in addition to the two transferrees, but two failed to put in an appearance. One young man telephoned from Virginia that he was delayed by a storm and the other, an employee of King Farms, Falls township, failed to arrive. The latter was to be included in last month's quota, but his notice did not reach him, it being returned to the draft board, undelivered. Reason for his non-appearance yesterday is not known by the board as yet.

Those who pass the examinations will be called for service in January this group being listed under the December quota.

Mrs. C. R. Dyson Dies; Was Native of England

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Nov. 30 — A native of England, who has resided in this community for six years, died yesterday in the person of Mrs. Catherine E. Dyson, 78, wife of Charles R. Dyson.

Mrs. Dyson was a communicant of St. Charles R. C. Church, and had come to this country 20 years ago. Her survivors include her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Ivy I. Hardy, Cornwells Heights; and a son, Edwin W. Beer, of Penned.

Relatives and friends are invited to the funeral home of J. Maurice Tomlinson, Bristol Pike, Thursday at nine a. m. Solemn Requiem Mass will be sung at 10 o'clock in St. Charles R. C. Church. Burial is arranged for Our Lady of Grace Cemetery, Middletown township. Friends may call Wednesday evening.

NEWPORTVILLE MAN ENTERS GUILTY PLEA

Horace W. Sands To Pay $250 Fine And Costs

WILL LOSE LICENSE

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 30 — A Newportville man was sentenced by Judge Hiram H. Keller to pay a fine of $250 and costs and to surrender his license for one year.

Horace W. Sands, of Emille road, Newportville, pleaded guilty to driving while drunk on the Lincoln highway on August 12th, an eighth of a mile east of Philadelphia city line. The defendant's car, Trooper W. A. Arner, of Langhorne barracks, testified, struck a Philadelphia park guard by the name of George B. Simmons. The injured man had both legs broken, and suffered a severe back injury. Two automobiles were also struck by the Sands car.

Trooper Arner testified that the park guard was checking on another car when he was struck by the defendant's car.

Sands was employed by the State Highway Department until November 9th, this year, as a senior road inspector on new construction.

With Judge Calvin S. Boyer presiding, two defendants, Vernon Langer and Donald Langer, Riegelsville R. D. 1, charged with assault and battery on Oliver Johnson, a Springfield township farmer, on August 21st, went on trial.

Members of the jury are: William M. Johnson, Morrisville; Clifford

WILL IS EXECUTED 4 DAYS PRIOR TO CHMARUK'S DEATH

Stipulates No Foreign Gov't is To Receive Any of His Money

THE SPECTOR WILL

Widow of Maurice Spector Is The Sole Beneficiary

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 30 — Mike Chmaruk, Bristol, whose name was spelled five different ways because of his Russian background, left a personal estate of $15,000, to Nazareth Hospital, Phila., he bequeathed all his U. S. Government bonds' proceeds.

The testator, who died on Columbus Day, executed his will October 8, four days prior to his death. He bequeathed the residue to Gregory and Varvara Chmaruk.

He stipulated that his other children, Dep. Myakoti, P. O. Pluzhnoe, Shepetovskiy Okrug, all of whom are in the U. S. S. R. (Russia) should be beneficiaries, but that no foreign government should receive any of his money. Pauline Dugan, Bristol, RD 1, was named executrix, and will inherit the bequests for the children now in Russia if proper distribution can not be made.

Leaving an estate of $40,000 and upwards, Allen A. Achey, retired Quakertown lumber and coal dealer, who died Oct. 8, bequeathed his widow, Henrietta VanOmmeren Achey, his automobile, household possessions, and their residence, 4 Front st., Quakertown.

The testator, who bequeathed his widow $5,000 outright for her immediate needs, created a trust fund in the Quakertown Trust Company. In a codicil, which was written Feb. 7, 1947, a daughter, Frances Achey Kemmerle, was named beneficiary.

The personal estate was listed at $39,000 and upwards and real estate at $10,000. A nephew, Webster S. Achey, Spring Valley, was named executor.

The widow, Anna M. Moyer, Doylestown, RD 1, was named the beneficiary of the $25 estate left by husband, Sylvanus G. Moyer, who stipulated that in case she remarries she should pay $100 to each of the daughters, Florence M. Leatherman and Martha Moyer.

The testator, who executed his will December 17, 1945, died October 6, this year. The widow was named executrix.

A widow, Annie Spector, 233 Mill st., Bristol, was named the sole beneficiary of the $10,000 and upwards estate left by her husband, Maurice Spector, Bristol. The testator, who wrote his will Sept. 16, died four days later, Sept. 20. The widow was also named executrix.

August F. Lorup, Bristol township, who left real estate valued at $1500, bequeathed $50 to Mary Belair, for her kindness to him during his illness. Fred Belair was given a dictionary and two daughters, Fanny Sutton and Carlen Heimline, were bequeathed the residue. The testator, who died October 9, this year, was named executrix.

FLYING IN FORMATION

Creation of the Continental Air Command of the U. S. Air Force is proof that the task of unification can go forward within a service as well as among the services. Until the new command was formed there had been no single commander for the air defense of this country.

Now Lieut. Gen. George E.
Baker has been placed at the head of it all. Both the Air Defense Command (the fighter arm) and the Tactical Air Command (the bomber arm) will be subject to the coordinating influence of a general who knows his job.

As commander of the Fourteenth Air Force in China during the war, General Stratemeyer learned continental defense the hard way. There he was in the interior of the country while the Japanese still held the coast.
Those were bad weeks when the Japs dislodged his squadrons from one airfield after another.

But he kept hammering away on railroads and on shipping in the China Sea—while keeping in strategic touch with Philippine-based outfits at the same time.

The Air Defense Command and the Tactical Air Command use the same types of aircraft, from fighters to transports. Naturally the head man of each has had his own ideas about running his outfit. Obviously an officer placed over both outfits will be in position to prevent overlapping of details as well as of broad tactical functions.

Then, too, the Air National Guard and the Air Force Reserve can expect to feel the general's firm hand without delay. Perhaps he will add his recommendations to those already made as to the better integration of the regular and the standby services.

BLIZZARD-WISE

Blizzards which swept the high plains area in November this year were not a weather phenomena. They have occurred often enough in the past to warn people to be on their guard. Any time after the first heavy frost a blizzard may come swooping down.

The mistake people make in the blizzard country is to try to keep on driving in sparsely settled areas when snowfall becomes heavy. That is the time for caution to prevail and to take to the first shelter, preferably a house with heat.

The motor car is quite a gadget, but it was not designed for heavy snowfall and its passengers usually aren't clad to stand up against the buffeting elements.

But the automobile has led the American people to acquire a trait which contributes to their undoing in stormy weather. In this motor age people are always in a hurry. In a crisis their inclination is to rush ahead to their destination. Thus in a blizzard hundreds are stranded on the roads who might have stopped for shelter.

"Life" and The T-H Law

coal tie-up means (or could mean) far more than "a spell of shivering." It could mean freezing to death, starvation, pestilence and—from the point of view of orderly, organized government —complete anarchy.

But brushing aside the obvious bias in the way the question is worded, let's look at the question itself.

It is a complete acceptance of the concept of "factionalism" —of the theory that organized minorities, because they are organized and powerful and noisy, ought to be able to enforce their demands even when they run counter to the interests of the whole nation.

If you want to read a studious analysis of the dangers of factionalism, and the manner in which it can undermine the whole pattern of constitutional government, turn to the Federalist Papers. Factionalism is no new concept. Madison and others warned against it from the birth of this nation.

No one except a person whose thinking had become thoroughly befuddled by current communistic theories would seriously argue that the "disaffection" of one group of words, over their wages, ought to be placed ahead of the interests and rights of the whole American people; and of their chance of survival as a representative republic. The preamble of the Constitution alone should be enough to refute such a proposition.

"Life," however, gets into its deepest water when it attempts to set forth instances of injustice to labor in the workings of the Taft-Hartley Act. For example:

"The Taft-Hartley Act prohibits sympathetic strikes.
But what if a struck shop employing A. F. of L. machinists were to subcontract its work to other shops employing A. F. of L. workers? Under the Wagner Act, a union faced with such 'runaway' tactics could call strikes in the plants which had taken over the sub-contracted work. But under the Taft-Hartley law this would be impossible."

This is a most amazing piece of ill-logic and misinformation.
To begin with, of all the general demands which arose for clarification of the Wagner Act, probably none was greater than that for control of "secondary" strikes—those which come under the various classifications of jurisdictional or sympathy walkouts, and secondary boycotts. Labor itself clamored for relief from the abuses and confusions which had arisen. The Taft-Hartley Act attempted to meet an urgent public demand—a point which "Life" completely ignores.

The "Life" editors have been deluded with propaganda and misinformation which they might easily have corrected, in their own minds, by so simple a process as reading the Taft-Hartley law—or any competent digest of it, if it was too laborious to consult the law itself before writing about it.

To say, as "Life" does, that the law "prohibits sympathetic strikes," as though is prohibited ALL sympathy (or secondary boycott) strikes under ALL circumstances, is plain nonsense.
What the Act does is to prohibit these secondary tie-ups WHEN THE ORIGINAL OR PRIMARY DISPUTE IS UNLAWFUL OR IMPROPER!

Read Sect. 8, Sub-section b, Paragraph 4 of the Act for yourself (apparently "Life" neglected to do so) if you have a different idea of what the law does. Or look up the point in any authoritative digest. Here is the comment, for example, of the "N.A.M. Law Digest" on this question (Vol. IX, No. 3, June, 1947, page 68):

"Sympathy strikes and secondary boycotts to compel
'another employer' to recognize a certified representative would appear to be legal."

In other words, workers in the subcontracting plants would have complete power to deal with "Life's" imagined situation under the Taft-Hartley law—IF THE DISPUTE IN THE FIRST PLANT WAS NOT UNLAWFUL IN METHOD OR PUR-POSE, AND IF THE UNION IN THAT PLANT "CAME TO COURT WITH CLEAN HANDS."

"Life" would have been much less excited about the imaginary wrongs being done labor, if it had studied the law before writing about it.

Former Bristol Residents Have Golden Anniversary

Point Pleasant, Nov. 30 — In celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gotwals entertained a few relatives and close friends at a turkey dinner at their home, here Friday.

Mr. Gotwals, for many years a merchant here, and the former Miss Elizabeth A. Jenkins, a daughter of the late Phillip Z. and Debbie Jenkins, Plumsteadville, were married on Thanksgiving Day, 1893, by Rev. James Hiley Bergey, who was pastor of Salem Reformed Church, Doylestown.

Their attendants at the ceremony were a sister, Miss Lillie M. Jenkins, and George Fisher, both of Plumsteadville. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Gotwals left for a wedding trip to Washington D. C.

Mr. Gotwals, a native of Gardenville, is a son of the late Jonas and Martha Gotwals. When a young man he assisted his father in the store in Gardenville, and later the younger Mr. Gotwals and Kirk Black formed a partnership in the mercantile business in Gardenville.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Gotwals resided in Bristol, where the former was employed in an industrial plant. Giving up his line of work, Mr. Gotwals located in this village, where he and Mrs. Gotwals have resided since, and where he has been operating a store for many years.

BRISTOL HIGH A. A. ISSUES CHALLENGE TO BENSLEM

The athletic association of the Bristol High School last night issued a public challenge to the Bensalem Township High School authorities to have the football teams of the schools play another game to decide the championship of the Lower Bucks County League.

Several weeks ago the teams battled to a 6-6 deadlock which caused the Lower Bucks League to end in a deadlock between the Warriors and Owls with both teams winning the other two circuit games on their schedule.

Immediately following Bristol's 22-13 triumph over Morrisville on Thanksgiving Day, Coach Harry McClister and his assistant, Jerry Bloom, expressed a desire to meet Bensalem in another game to decide the crown. Both coaches felt that the championship should be decided on the field and not by the toss of a coin or some other matter.

Bensalem finished its season with eight wins and two ties, having an undefeated season. Bristol's win over Morrisville was its fourth triumph. It lost five games and tied Bensalem.

According to Coach McClister, there is nothing in the P.I.A.A. rules that prevents a playoff to decide any championship. The only thing that is necessary is for both schools to agree.

High School Alumni Team To Practice

The Bristol High Alumni Association basketball teams intend to have several practice sessions before meeting the Bristol High varsity and junior varsity teams on the night of December 17th on the high school floor.

Last season, lack of practice handicapped the graduates although they made a good showing against the schoolboys. However, Manager Art Grimes has already been given his playing night and will round his players in shape before game time.

Graduates of the Bristol High who wish to play on the Alumni team are requested to contact Art Grimes, 541 Swain street, or Thomas Juno, 1395 Wood street, at once.

of the Chalfont Lions Club, at the end of the week.

The army, said Major Adams, realizes its responsibility in accepting men, and it is up to the army to do something for the men.

Conscripted men, the members were told, fall into three groups, those who come from families where there has been very little discipline, those where the parental check has been too severe and those who come from normal family backgrounds.

"It is up to the army to place these groups together and to make military men out of them."

Major Adams spoke briefly about the work at the hospital, and by means of a visual exhibit showed how plastic surgeons are able to restore the physical features of men who are injured.

D. 3; Marie Hansom, Hulmeville; Mae Scharg, Croydon R. D.; Wilson Long, Gardenville; Courtland H. Barnard, Trevose; Anna R. Beaton, Bristol; and Willard C. Wamsley, Morrisville.

The first witness for the Commonwealth was Oliver W. Johnson, 45, who owns a farm two miles south of Springfield.

Wayne McGhee pleaded guilty before Judge Keller to a charge of driving while drunk at 1:05 a. m. at the intersection of Main and Court streets on August 3rd.

McGhee is proprietor of the "Cat and Fiddle," an inn along the River road, north of Point Pleasant.

The defendant was arrested by Patrolman Clarence Irwin of the Doylestown police. McGhee's motor stalled just before he was arrested.

Judge Keller imposed a fine of $125 and costs on McGhee.

farms, near Morrisville, later transferring to the Becker farms. He admitted he got drunk once in awhile, and that a month ago he "went after" one of his fellow workers with a knife. His wife, Alice, 59, told the judge that she had 15 children, 10 of them having died. She stated that her husband was better to her when drunk than sober, but that he "is always good." Ramey and his two sons earn $150 "take home" pay each week between them at the Becker farms, it was stated. The judge ordered Ramey's shotgun confiscated, and stated that Ramey's son, who owns the second one, may claim it.

Horace Young, 40, Negro, a Bristol Terrace resident, pleaded guilty to carrying a revolver minus a license. He was arrested October 2nd by a Bristol township officer. Young was fined $100 and costs, and placed on probation for 12 months. He was directed to keep the peace, particularly toward the family of Fred Pitts, neighbors. Young had been arrested after the two families are said to have had a feud growing out of a $5 debt Pitts is alleged to owe Young. Judge Keller said "We have had a couple of murders in this county among the colored people in the past two years, and the court intends to set an example."

A Yardley woman, who formerly lived in Bristol, Mrs. Harriet N. McLees, went on trial yesterday before Judge Keller, charged with failure to stop her automobile at the scene of an accident in Morrisville the night of November 4th. The accident occurred at the intersection of Trenton and Delmor avenues, Morrisville, her car and one owned by Ernest W. Adams, Morrisville, being said to be involved.

Letters of administration in the estate of Paul Renner, Perkasie were granted to Anna Renner, 238 Market street, Perkasie, amounting to an estate of $300. The widow, Anna, two daughters, Hazel Moyer and Nancy Renner, and two sons, Wilmer and Earl, are the heirs.

In the estate of Edith Wolfinger, Tinicum township, letters of administration were granted to Edward W. Wolfinger, Ottaville, amounting to a personal estate of $1600. Two daughters, Elsie F. Heckman and Mabel S. Bernstein, 637 German town ave., Phila., are the heirs.

involved, Adams' car had the fender damaged, it was stated. Patrolman John P. Davis, Morrisville, testified that Mrs. McLees became "very abusive" to him under questioning regarding the crash. The patrolman said Mrs. McLees "told me I wasn't fit to be a police officer and that she knew more about the law than I did." Chief Bucks County Detective Anthony Russo, Bristol, was called as a character witness for Mrs. McLees. He said he knew her for at least 20 years, and that her reputation for peace, order and sobriety was good. The judge was to charge the jury in the case this morning.
